- 2) H1 and Q2 2020: adjusted for the positive one-off effect from the write-up in the Sempermed segment (EBIT: EUR 88.8 million; earnings after taxes: EUR 94.1 million) and the negative one-off effect from the impairment in the Sempertrans segment (EBIT effect EUR –20.0 million; earnings after taxes: EUR –16.3 million)

| in € m                     | H1 2020 | H1 2019 | Change |
|----------------------------|---------|---------|--------|
| Current income tax expense | 9.3     | 6.4     | 2.9    |

In particular, the increase of tax expenses is caused by

- an increase in taxable income at Sempermed in Singapore and USA and
- · withholding-tax expenses for dividends received from subsidiaries in China and Thailand

| in € m                                       | H1 2020 | H1 2019 | Change |

| Deferred income tax expense (+) / income (-) | -7.5    | 2.0     | -9.5   |
| Total  | 1.8     | 8.4     | -6.6   |

The deferred tax income is mainly due to

- a significant increase in profit expectations in the Sempermed segment makes unused loss carryforwards and deductible temporary tax differences recoverable in the foreseeable future (one-off positive tax effect)
- the Sempertrans impairment leads in the future to lower depreciation charges in accounting compared to tax in the future. To match accounting depreciation charge and tax expense in the future, a deferred tax asset (one-off positive tax effect) had to be recognised.

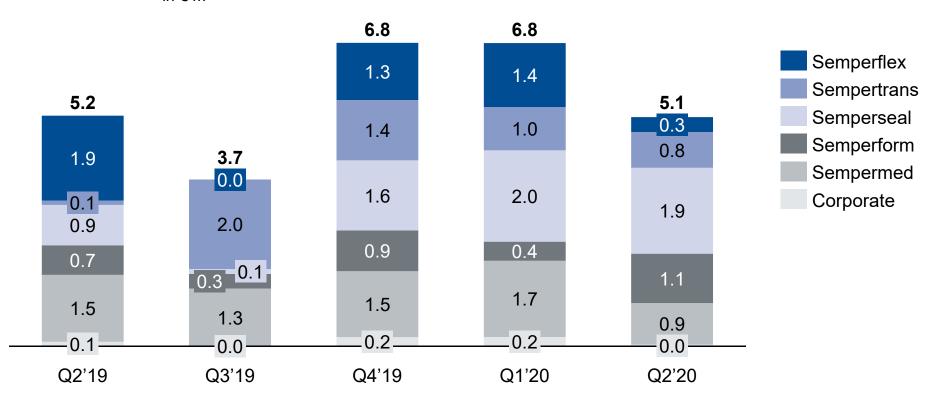

- H1'20 CAPEX under strict control main focus on maintenance
- FY 2020 CAPEX to remain below € 40m
